Been affected by a summer injury or recent illness?

retainworks.org

With summer around the corner, the weather change brings about a new set of injuries. Many of us might be affected by heat exhaustion or sports injuries. Being sick, injured, or effected by the summer elements can be hard enough. But when it interferes with work, your whole life can be effected. The team behind RETAINWORKS are here to help you get back to full productivity.

You may be eligible to participate in RETAINWORKS if:

- You have suffered an injury in the last 12 weeks, on or off the job.
- You have been diagnosed with an illness or an exacerbation of a chronic illness (including a mental or behavioral health diagnosis) within the last 12 weeks.
- You are experiencing long COVID symptoms.

Eligible participants that are selected for the treatment group will receive:

- Care from healthcare professionals trained in Stay-at-Work and Return-to-Work best practices.
- An assigned nurse navigator to support you during recovery and assist with care coordination.
- Training, employment services, assistance with job modifications or accommodations, and supportive services necessary to retain or change jobs.
- Monetary incentives for participating in some of the study activities.

Based on this criteria, do you believe that you may qualify for RETAINWORKS? We encourage you to visit us at retainworks.org to complete a self-referral form and be pre-screened for eligibility by a nurse navigator.
